Staff Of Cherry Tree Is Appointed For Coming Year

Pauline Schaub Is Editor;
Wendell H. Bain To Be
Business Manager

Appointments were made to the staff of the 1932 Cherry Tree by the board of editors of that publication at a meeting held Thursday, October 15. Pauline Schaub is editor-in-chief and Wendell H. Bain business manager of this year's book.

Members of the board of editors direct the work in their own departments and each personally supervised the duties of one or two divisions which are to be actively headed by the recently appointed staff members. In this way the board is able to spread the benefit of previous experiences over a wide area and at the same time maintain a unity of specialized organization. All copy will be edited again this year by Elizabeth Rees, who will also supervise the editing of dramatics and debate. Ralph McCoy is organization editor and will directly supervise the work in fraternities and sororities. Men's sports and classes will be under the editorship of William Hanback. Jean Fugitt will edit women's sports and supervise humor and society. The art editor is Archie Burgess.

Additional Appointments
In addition to the above, who constitute the board of editors, the following appointments were made to the staff of the Cherry Tree: Debate editor, Elizabeth Reeves; Dramatics, Frank Westbrook; Fraternities, John Walstrom; Sororities, Marie Siegrist; Society, Evelyn Eller; Education, Marion Zeigler; Engineering, Wallis Schutt. Features editor has not yet been named, while the schools of Medicine, Pharmacy, and Law choose their own department head. These editors are under the supervision of William Hanback, editor of classes. Appointments to the business staff: Marion Fowler, advertising manager; Stanley Rees, publicity manager; and Gerald Free, photographic editor. Applications for positions on the editorial staff should be made to Pauline Schaub; for the business staff to Wendell H. Bain, and in both cases mailed.

Glider Club Seeks Air-Minded Youths

New Plan of Organization by Dr. Elliott, of Congressional Airport

The G. W. U. Glider Club has scheduled its second meeting for Thursday, October 22, at 8:30 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 29.

Professor A. F. Johnson, of the Engineering School, will present a report of the findings regarding a soaring location for which the club has been searching.

A new plan of organization will be set forth by Dr. Glenn Elliott, of Congressional Airport. It is said that this plan will entail the recruiting of a squadron from the G. W. club for whom a glider will be reserved at Congressional Airport. In the event that this idea proves practicable, the club will have its own ship in which to soar, as well as to make field hops.

The glider club is making a bid for membership, for its present number is insufficient for extended expeditions into the field, and it is hoped that the next meeting will bring forth those young men with sporting blood who must be lurking in the corridors of a school with so large an enrollment. All that an air-minded young student who seeks adventure must do to become a member is to drop into the next meeting.

It is said that there are only three functioning glider clubs in the universities of the United States, and the G. W. club is one of them. The club of the University of Michigan comes first through its number of active

Students Will Organize Creative Verse Society

Students interested in creative verse will meet Thursday, October 22, at 8 p. m. in L-11 to organize a society to encourage the writing of verse. All interested are invited to join. This organization plans to join the College Poetry Society of America which has chapters in 26 of the leading educational institutions of the United States. Sponsors of the national society, which was first organized only a year ago, include such well known poets as Robert Frost, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sara Teasdale, Harriet Monroe, Carl Sandburg, Lucia Trent, and John N. Gardner. It is hoped that contributions from G. W. students may soon appear in the bi-monthly magazine which the national society publishes.

Campus Sororities Open Annual Rushing Season

Sorority rushing, quiet but simmering under the surface since the opening of the University a month ago, burst into the open Sunday and is at present in the throes of strenuous activity which will have as its result the pledging of a large number of women on Wednesday, October 28.

The rushing season began officially Sunday and will last until midnight Saturday. Invitations to rush functions will be in the Lambie House every morning for parties scheduled for the next day. Freshmen are to call there between 9 and 4 o'clock to receive invitations and leave answers. No verbal invitations may be issued before 8 a. m. of the day on which the party is to be given.

Trustees Institute New Student Laws

Student Life Committee Requests Data From All Organizations

Regulations for the governing of student organizations have been adopted by the Board of Trustees of the University and in accordance with this action the Committee on Student Life last week sent out to all the organizations on the campus a request for information which will enable it to put into effect these regulations.

The regulations may be found in detail on pages 14 and 15 of the Students Handbook.

Each organization must file its eligibility rules for active and honorary membership, a copy of its constitution and by-laws, a complete list of members with their addresses, a list of all officers with addresses and telephone numbers, and a schedule of meetings. It must also file a statement of its policy and practice with respect to the six principles laid down by the Board of Trustees, and which are stated in detail on page 15 of the Handbook. The regulations must be filed on or before October 26.

Liberal Club Elects Officers For Year

Bertha Wolman Succeeds Edith Kay as Executive Chairman

At a business meeting of the Liberal Club held last Friday, officers were elected for this year. Bertha Wolman is the new chairman of the Executive Committee, succeeding Edith K. Day, who is now at the University of Chicago. Clarence Gurewitz is secretary, succeeding Robert Shostek. Ernest Wolf was re-elected treasurer.

John Gray was appointed chairman of the Membership Committee, Clarence Gurewitz of the Publicity Committee, and Shostek and B. Worrell to the Entertainment Committee.

Plans were formulated to inaugurate and intensive membership drive, with 100 as the goal for the year. Plans are also being made for a Halloween party. The "One Year Plan" for programs is about completed. The club this week added to its list of speakers the names of Roger Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, who will speak in mid-December on "Free Speech and the Reds," and Paul Blanshard, writer and lecturer of the League for Industrial Democracy, who will speak on "An Economic Plan for America," at a meeting to be held in the latter part of November.

Robert Cushman Will Sing In Atwater Kent Contest

One of the four men who will compete to represent the District of Columbia in the fifth national radio audition of the Atwater Kent Foundation is Robert Cushman, a member of the George Washington University Glee Club. Cushman, a baritone, will compete with the other men the week of November 1 to choose one who will represent the District in the New York auditions, November 23. The national finals have been scheduled for December in New York City.

Architectural Fraternity Names Sissons Secretary

Due to the resignation of two of its officers, Scarab, national-honorary architectural fraternity, held elections at the last meeting. William E. Sissons was elected secretary succeeding Merlin Rader, and Alfred E. Minno replaced Henry E. King as treasurer. These officers will hold their posts during the ensuing school year along with Charles Jumper, president. Delegates to the National Convention at Cincinnati will be elected at the next meeting which will be held Thursday night, October 29. The meeting will be in the form of a dinner at The Iron Gate.

Frank Westbrook Has Lead Role In 'Queen's Husband'

Green, Chittum, Gay Will Head Large Supporting Cast In Production

With little wasted effort the Drama Club is speedily making the necessary preparations for its production of the year, "The Queen's Husband," at Wardman Park Little Theatre the week before Thanksgiving.

Frank Westbrook will again have the principal role in a Drama Club play, and he will be supported by a large cast of demonstrated ability headed by Ada Green, Amanda Chittum and Karl Gay.

"The Queen's Husband," Robert E. Sherwood's comedy which utilizes for its plot many of the rumors that pervaded the press of the world a few years ago when Queen Marie of Rumania was always front page news, is now well into rehearsal by the large cast which will enact it next month. Direction of the play is in the hands of Miss Constance Brown, lecturer on play production in the University.

Offers Brilliant Opportunity
The role of King Eric VIII will offer Westbrook even greater opportunity for brilliance than did that of Major Warrington in "The Cassilis Engagement," last spring. This will be the third Drama Club play in which he has participated, "Twice Two Is Five" having boasted his efforts some years ago. Westbrook has also participated in the last three Troubadour productions, particularly in those of 1929-30.

Marvin Will Confer Degrees October 21

One Hundred and Fifty Will Be Graduated at Fall Convention

The Fall Convocation of the George Washington University will be held tomorrow, October 21, at 12 noon, in assembly room of Corcoran Hall. Approximately 150 degrees will be conferred. Friends and parents of the graduates are invited to attend. No tickets will be required.

Candidates for degrees are requested to report to Room 29 on the second floor of Corcoran Hall at 11:30 a. m. sharp. The academic procession will move promptly at 11:55.

Ten announcements for each graduate will be available this morning, October 20, at the office of the registrar. The exercise will open with the academic procession, the graduates, deans, and administrative officers, participating in cap and gown. Dr. Edward Elliott Richardson will offer the invocation. Dr. William Allen Wilbur, provost of the University, will then introduce the deans of the schools and directors of the divisions, who will present candidates for degrees. The degrees will be conferred by President Cloyd Heck Marvin.

Following the conferring of degrees the President will address the graduates. The exercise will close with the pronouncing of the benediction and the recessional march.

Dean Doyle Judges Contest

Professor Henry Gratian Doyle, dean of the Junior College, will be one of the judges at the Sixth Annual International Oratorical Contest which will be held in Washington, Saturday evening, October 24.

Student Body's Loyalty Demonstrated In Support Of Varsity Against Tulsa

Sickler, Burgess and George Vie With Elements to Keep Cheering Section Intact During Half-time—Patience of Fans Gratifying to Team

Although the Golden Hurricane swept over the Colonials, it cannot be denied that our gridmen battled strenuously "unto the bitter end," and for the first time in many a year the G. W. rooters, students, fans, etc., came through with a magnificent exhibition of yelling, cheering, and actual yearning for those boys who were being buffeted by the windstorm from Tulsa, Okla.

That first drive of the Buff and Blue to within the 10-yard zone of Tulsa's goal set the crowd mad, and after they were repulsed by the redoubtable Tulsa and the ball was carried back to midfield by a punt the George Washingtonites carried on their verbal support with renewed vigor. Even later in the game, when it was practically certain that the Colonials were going to lose, the pleading yells of the students and alumni, too, were unabated.

Due credit must be given to those three enterprising cheer leaders—Jerry Sickler, Archie Burgess, and Paul George—because of the many problems with which they were confronted. For a while, at the half, it looked as if the yell persuaders were going to be mobbed by a crowd which couldn't make up its collective mind whether or not it was going to rain, and therefore kept chasing to and fro across the field. When an exceptionally hard burst of rain descended on the stands the crowd

Council Nominees Must File Names By Saturday Noon

Election to Fill Junior College Vacancies Will Be Held November 2

Nominations for candidates for the two vacancies on the Student Council in the Junior College must be filed with Ted Rinehart in the Law Library, fourth floor, Stockton Hall no later than noon Saturday, October 24.

The Student Council announces that the special election to fill these vacancies will be held Monday, November 2. The vacancies were created by the advancement of two members of the Council from the Junior College to other divisions of the University.

To be an eligible candidate, a student must be registered in the Junior College, be in good academic standing, and have completed a minimum of 45 hours work and one year of residence in the George Washington University. Candidates must be nominated in writing by 23 students in good standing in the Junior College.

Under the Student Council's constitution, when a vacancy in its membership occurs in any school of the University, the vacancy shall be filled by the next candidates in line who were defeated in the previous election. The Council had been informed that two such defeated candidates were enrolled in the Junior College this year and were therefore eligible to hold the positions, but last week it was advised that these students had advanced to other divisions of the University. Therefore it is necessary that the Council conduct this special election.

Halloween Student Committee Chosen

City-wide Masquerade Celebration

October thirty-first will mark the first event of what is hoped to be an annual affair for Washington—a Halloween celebration in the true spirit of the holiday, with a parade, street dancing to several of the town's best bands, and the general festivity which attends a masquerade. The business associations of the city are sponsoring this year's event and an attempt will be made to model it after the New Orleans Mardi Gras, Philadelphia's Mummers Parade, Los Angeles' Festival of Roses, and such community celebrations. All the prominent community organizations will participate, and George Washington University has been asked to send a delegation showing the various phases of school life.

By authorization of the Committee on Student Life the following student committee has been appointed to have charge of University participation in the celebration: Richard A. Hill, chairman; Evelyn Eller, vice-chairman; and Daniel C. Beattie, Louise Berryman, Mildred Burnham, C. Manley Fesler, Charles Jackson, Katherine McCallum, Howard Payne, Elizabeth Rees, Pauline Schaub, Gerald Sickler, and Winfield Weitzel.

The committee has already started work and is planning to have a series of floats, each float to represent an organization in school. This will give each group a chance to show its creative ability in original and dramatic ideas. All the representative organizations in school will be approached this week and it is hoped that the University will be able to make a fine showing for itself on Halloween night.

Hatchet Staff

Applicants for positions on The Hatchet staff who submitted the re-write due last Wednesday will examine the assignment book in the third floor front office of Building Y for further assignments. All reporters must initial book by Wednesday night and turn in stories by 5 p. m. Sunday.

Troubadours Plan Finest Production

Show, Named "Happy Landings"; Beattie Hints at Big Surprise Feature

"The finest, most spectacular musical comedy that the George Washington Troubadours have ever put on," is the way Dan Beattie, managing director of the Troubadours, sums up his views on the forthcoming production, which has been tentatively scheduled for the second week in December.

The show has been named "Happy Landings," and the playwrights, Redman and Kennedy, have woven many unique and comical situations into the plot. The book is said to be interesting and full of real and original comedy, and the music, written by Beattie and Carl Wells, is tuneful and snappy. Beattie also hints at a surprise feature which will be well worth while.

Work has been started on the dancing under Christine Spignol, dancing director. Choruses are whipping into shape and already show great promise.

Costumes in Preparation
Costumes, which are this year to be furnished by a professional show costumer, have been designed and submitted by the costumes director, Caroline Brash. The scenery, under Dean Longfellow, shows progress and promises to compete with that used in any big time show.

The business end of the show is well under way, according to reports from the business manager, Edith Kay. Tickets are being sold at 50c and 75c. The show will open Tuesday, October 20, and main cast tryouts Tuesday, October 20. The Troubadours are well on their way and further advanced at the present time than they have ever been with any other production.

Luther Club Hears Dr. Gerhard Lenski

Lecture Is First of Series on Christianity Theme

The first weekly meeting of the Luther Club was held Sunday under the leadership of Dr. Gerhard Lenski, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church. The theme of Dr. Lenski's discussion is "Christianity and the World," and Sunday's topic was "How Christianity Got a Foothold in the Modern World." This was the first of a series of four discussions to be led by Dr. Lenski.

The appearance of Christianity, said Dr. Lenski, was not an accident. It could not possibly have been an accident. There is, then, only one alternative—that there was somebody or something behind it. That something was God. Further, the growth of Christianity was amazingly rapid. It had something to offer which the heathen religions of Greece and Rome did not have. Those religions were very tolerant of other religions, and their laxity in this respect made them very insecure. Christianity is an intolerant religion; and its positiveness and definiteness on this point has helped it to survive and grow.

Next Sunday's topic is "Christianity—Its Progress in Two Thousand Years." The meetings are held in building J-21, at 4 p. m. Everyone is invited.

Evans Wins Place In Student Council

McGrew Gets Columbian College Post Vacated by Hanback

Margaret Evans has been elected to the vacant position of the Student Council which was created when there was no candidate for the position in the Division of Library Science last spring. The special election which the Council conducted last week for the purpose of filling this vacancy was won without difficulty, there being no other candidate.

Steele McGrew is now serving on the Student Council as one of the two representatives from Columbian College. McGrew holds the position made vacant when William E. Hanback advanced to the Law School this fall. McGrew was one of the defeated candidates in the spring election.

Hanback is the first to occupy the office, the duty of which is supervision of all managing duties connected with all University sports.

Gerald Free, Harry Melcer, and John T. Vivian will fill the positions of junior managers in charge of football, minor sports, and basketball, respectively.

Cammack, William Dix, John E. Everett, Bernard Fagelson, Robert Herzog, Samuel J. Miller and Ralph Rose.

Freshmen Will Assist
Freshman managers who will be general assistants to the junior and sophomore managers in all departments and will have ample opportunity for advancement are Gordon Chessier, Charles S. Coakley, Ray Combs, Murray Robinson, Leonard Stevens, Joseph Winslow, and Sidney Margolis.

Applications for the staffs of freshman and sophomore managers will still be entertained in the athletic office, but should be made without delay; as there are only a few positions vacant.

Hanback, the new senior manager, has made a noteworthy record in the athletic department during the past three years. He served as assistant basketball manager in 1928-29, basketball manager in 1929-30, and in the fall of 1930 took over the duties of the varsity football manager.

The new junior managers have also had experience in the sports field. Gerald Free was assistant football manager last fall; Harry Melcer has been on the rifle squad for two years, and last year served as manager of rifle, and John T. Vivian has been a sports writer on The Hatchet for two years.

Phi Alpha Founding Marked By Dinner

Senator King Speaks to Group on Seventeenth Anniversary

The seventeenth anniversary of the founding of Phi Alpha fraternity was celebrated Sunday evening at a formal dinner dance at the Shoreham Hotel, attended by 165 couples. A thoroughly delightful evening was enjoyed by the guests from the hours of six to one.

Senator William King, of Utah, was the principal speaker of the evening. The five founders of the fraternity, Drs. David Davis, Maurice Hertzmark, Edward Lewis, Hyman Shapiro, and Mr. Reuben Schmidt were the honored guests. The vice president of the United States was also to have spoken, but an unexpected out-of-town engagement interfered.

Members of the fraternity from Yale, William and Mary, University of Virginia, University of West Virginia, University of North Carolina, New York University, Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland, Trinity College, Boston University, Georgetown, and George Washington danced to the strains of the Shoreham orchestra.

Phi Alpha fraternity had its inception at George Washington University with the establishing of its Alpha chapter on October 14, 1914. Every year a host of fraters representing the 27 chapters of the organization which are now in existence, assemble to pay honor to the men responsible for the idea of a Phi Alpha fraternity. Phi Alpha is the only national social fraternity which had its inception at George Washington University.

Our Dirtiest Linen Laundered in Public!!!

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the editor publishes below a refutation drafted by the Student Council of the charges made against it in this column. The only regrettable fact is that similar action, which we have invited time and again, was not taken several weeks ago. It might have avoided several unfortunate circumstances.

There are several points upon which we apparently do not agree—for instance, the duties and functions of a publicity director, and the failings of our reportorial staff. However, it is gratifying to know that the Council, as a body, has publicly voiced an opinion expressing some feeling, and suggesting activity, and that further useless "quibbling" is at present unnecessary, the desired result having been accomplished. The report of the Council, un-edited, follows:

(The Student Council regrets exceedingly that the expressions of The Hatchet in an editorial in the last issue forces it to reopen a subject which it had hoped would be effectively dealt with as a result of information given representatives of The Hatchet relative to the facts these expressions were based upon. In fairness to The Hatchet, the Student Council and the Student Body, we believe The Hatchet will give this expression of the Student Council publicity equal to that given their editorial and in the same place in The Hatchet.)

The Student Council of George Washington University is not settling into lethargy. And the Student Council feels it incumbent on itself to call to the attention of every student in the University, a situation which, unless The Hatchet remedies it by having its reporters cover certain student activities and get the facts, may soon become a matter far from laughable.

It was said by The Hatchet that although there are many newcomers on this campus who are unaware of its existence, the fact is that we do have a Student Council which, however, is famous for what it has failed to do. It will be appreciated that a failure to accomplish anything is no basis for undergraduate confidence, yet it is obvious that nothing is being done to overcome this lack of confidence. It was not said that within the past three weeks meetings of many newcomers on this campus were held at which the Council explained the different branches of the University, the various student activities in which they would be expected to participate, and that no mention of these facts was made in The Hatchet. Nor was a greeting to the new students from the Council, given The Hatchet by the Council, published. It was not explained that the Council sponsored a reception and mixer in Corcoran Hall on the first evening of school at which all the members received new students for one hour and, together with committees of upper classmen, discussed their new problems with them; after which dances were held in Corcoran Hall and Stockton Hall. Nor was it explained that after this affair no mention thereof was made in the student paper, although members of The Hatchet Staff were admittedly present at the dances.

There are some who have wrongly interpreted the constructive criticism which The Hatchet has offered the Student Council. We have no doubt it has been given in a spirit of earnestness and a desire to advise the Council how to best secure the good will and admiration of the student body. Recognizing that prodding may goad one on to greater effort, we welcome constructive criticism when due, but lament expressions regarding the Student Council or any other portion of this University when they are grounded on partial facts and misinformation. The Hatchet cannot expect to know what is going on or assume the position of an organ able and chosen to criticize so long as it sits flat in the middle of the campus shouting "that nothing is being done" and basing their expressions on lack of facts, yet making no attempt to ascertain the truth.

It was explained by The Hatchet that it had warned the Student Council that it must adopt ironclad election rules, lest there be a recurrence of last years farces and that so far there has been no evidence that such rules have been adopted and that yet the Council was holding an election this week to fill the vacancy from the Division of Library Science. It has not explained that the Constitution (Article 3, Sec. 4) of the Student Council provides that "When a vacancy occurs in the representation of any school, said vacancy shall be filled by defeated candidates of the school wherein the vacancy occurs, having the highest number of votes at the previous election," and that on information, written as to Junior College, from the Administration, three such defeated candidates in the last election acquired vested rights under the old Constitution to membership on the Council when the three members advanced into other schools; that this clause of the Constitution could not for this reason as to these matters be amended; that with these vested rights, the old clause of the Constitution must be applied to these schools and that the Council could not ethically apply it to them and apply a different one to the Division of Library Science. Nor was the Council consulted about the rules they are formulating for the Spring election.

The Hatchet said that that which is most interesting from the technical viewpoint, however, is that the Council is operating without full membership and seemingly no effort is being made to fill the places made vacant by the advancement of four members from Junior College into other divisions of the University and from Columbian College into the Law School. It was not explained that under the above clause of the Constitution, the defeated candidate in Columbian College, of which there is one, automatically became entitled to membership on the Council when the former member advanced to Law School. The Council wishes to point out that four members did not advance into other divisions of the University. Three members thus advanced. Two from the Junior College and one from Columbian College into the Law School. Furthermore, the Council received written information from the University this September that there were two defeated candidates in the Spring election who were still in Junior College, and who were, therefore, entitled to sit on the Council when two of the four members from that school advanced, but the Council now regrets to announce that these two students are not enrolled there. Under the Constitution, a special election must therefore be held.

Realizing that The Hatchet is the organ of the George Washington University administration and of the student Body, each student contributing money to make possible its publication, and feeling it is open to legitimate publicity which is presented in a cooperative spirit, we believe that the Council as the representatives of approximately eight thousand students may avail itself of The Hatchet at any and all times. We therefore submit the above with the sincere hope that The Hatchet and the Student Council will profit by their experiences of the past and that in the future the two will join hands where cooperation is due; that the things before us may be better accomplished and that we may have even a finer, greater university.

CHIPS

Well, folks, here I am, battered and weary. After being massacred and beaten by Tulsa I gave life up as too much trouble and settled down to a week-end bun. After several gallons of bum gin I'm down here, or up here—I don't know which—trying to give you kind people an idea of how I feel. Perhaps some of you know. Well, don't tell Prexy; or you won't have little Rollo around any longer to tell you fairy tales.

We'll leave the sad tales of how we lost our big chance to the wings of chatter so we can forget it. There are other days when it won't rain, and there is always tomorrow.

Hallowe'en has come, Rah! Rah! Please give us some ideas for dressing up the committee for the occasion. I can think of some prize ways of making Hill, Fesler, Schaub & Co. look the part—clowns, pirates, harlequins, etc.

Let's use some of our collich spirit to let the Capital Traction Co. know what we think of those street car signs—"Park your car on F and G beyond Twentieth, out of the business district." Ye gods, they think we don't have enough trouble scrambling for parking space at 5 p. m. Papa, I want a sporty Austin.

Kindly hand me a feather—now

Where Turkish tobacco grows

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples.

Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff!

Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

XANTHI .. CAVALLA .. SMYRNA

.. SAMSOON .. famous tobaccos!

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee!

You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend.

This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.

Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane Crushes Colonials

Whirlwind Playing of the Southwest Boys Marked With Speed and Power

The Golden Hurricane of Tulsa University downed the G. W. Colonials by a score of 24-7 last Friday night at Griffith Stadium before a crowd of 15,000. The whirlwind playing of the Tulsa eleven left the crowd breathless as a touchdown was pushed over in the first few minutes of play. Team work coupled with the individual starring of the backs and ends did everything in giving Tulsa its victory over the Colonials. The G. W. eleven, showing all they had in the way of football, was outclassed in nearly every quarter by the flashy plays pulled by the Oklahoma men.

Tulsa kicked to G. W. to start the game. An inside kick; a Tulsa man fell on the ball on the Colonial 30-yard line. Pilkington, carrying the ball through the line for consistent gains, made the five-yard stripe. There the Colonials held for three downs, but the fighting fullback went over on the last try to score. His attempt to make the extra point was unsuccessful.

Green, carrying the ball for the Oilers in the second quarter, advanced the ball to the G. W. 30-yard stripe for a first down. Boehm, with Pilkington and Green as interference, went around end for 12 yards, and on another play went over for the second touchdown of the game. The kick for the extra point was unsuccessful. Carter returned the ball after the kick-off to the 27-yard line, where the Colonials were forced to kick. Parrish punting to the Tulsa 25-yard marker. The Golden Hurricane not being able to make any headway kicked to G. W. Fenlon receiving, returned the ball 5 yards.

The Colonials then started what appeared to be a steady march for a touchdown. Carlin, Parrish, and Fenlon made their way to the Tulsa 12-yard line and it looked as if they would continue over the goal. A Tulsa linesman spoiled the Colonials' chances when he intercepted a pass on his 12-yard line. The Tulsa men then brought to light one of the plays that made them so talked about in the T. C. U. game. Playing a wide open punt formation with the ends on the side lines, Pilkington threw a pass to Boehm who ran 85 yards to score their third touchdown. Pilkington failed to add the additional point, leaving the score 18-0.

Fenlon, receiving the kickoff, returned the ball to the 40-yard marker before he was downed. The ball was then advanced to the Tulsa 40-yard line, where the Colonials lost it on downs. After trying to go through the line twice the Oilers resorted to passes, but after three unsuccessful ones were forced to kick. G. W. received on their 10-yard line, but the half ended before any plays were run.

Keeling Runs Wild

Carter returned the ball to the 45-yard stripe to start the second half. Doyle, who went in for Carlin, went through center to the Tulsa 45-yard marker. G. W. was forced to kick, but the ball hit Keeling and was recovered by a Colonial on the Tulsa 10-yard line. The ball was taken through to the 1-yard line and with four downs to go the G. W. eleven failed to put it across the goal line, Tulsa's forward line refusing to make an opening.

Tulsa kicked to Doyle who was tackled on the 40-yard marker. G. W. again failing to make any headway lost the ball on downs. Keeling for Tulsa took the ball around right end for a first down. This was followed by a pass, Pilkington to Green, that was good for 20 yards. Keeling again took the ball through left tackle and, showing one of the finest exhibitions of broken field running seen by the Colonial rooters this year, went over for the fourth touchdown of the evening. Pilkington again was unsuccessful in making the extra point.

Parrish Makes Long Run

Doyle returned the ball to the 30-yard line. The Colonials made a first down, then, being held, kicked to the Tulsa 25-yard stripe. Tulsa then took

Varsity-Freshmen Battle On Friday

Griffith Stadium Clash Looks Like Family Scrap; Yearlings Anxious

The George Washington freshmen will furnish the opposition for Coach Pixlee's varsity gridmen this week when they engage in a public exhibition under the lights of Griffith Stadium, Friday night.

Such an experiment proved successful at Catholic University last week and with intense rivalry existing between the two squads, a fierce battle is expected among the George Washington men.

The game appears to be somewhat of a family affair with the fifth floor boys. Not only do residents of the same house battle against each other, but several Colonial gridmen will find themselves facing their own brothers, to say nothing of their fraternity brothers.

Tho the varsity ought to win, several of his men were badly bruised in the Tulsa game and Coach Pixlee will probably use numerous substitutes while Jean Sexton will open the throttle wide, bear down, and wait for the breaks. If the breaks come and Strayer, Vandenberg, Trilling, Nielson, and Biesada get a little encouragement, they may cause the varsity a surprise. Then too, many an "underdog" has up set all dope with a wild forward pass heaved from their own 20 yard line or some such foolish place.

Bugs Bagranoff had two ribs broken in the Tulsa game and won't get a chance at the yearlings and probably will be out of several more games.

It is predicted that Friday's game will see the Varsity forward pass on two of every four plays in an effort to perfect the many faults in the George Washington aerial attack as displayed against Tulsa.

Coach Pixlee and his squad look forward to a fierce battle the following week with Iowa and the Freshmen game will furnish an excellent chance to prep for the western trip.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Wins Only Interfraternity Golf Match During Past Week

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Sigma Kappa furnished the only action in interfraternity golf during the past week when the Sig Alpha emerged on the long end of a 2-0 score. The two teams were even on medal plays, but Sigma Alpha Epsilon was victorious in the two-match score.

Shiery and O'Daniel played Hoover and Kendall. Phi Sig, in the first foursome, while Rigby and Jamieson, Sig Alpha, played Knibiehl and Brower in the second foursome.

Score:

S. A. E.	Phi Sig
Shiery.....91	Hoover.....88
O'Daniel.....89	Kendrick.....94
Rigby.....83	Knibiehl.....88
Jamieson.....101	Brower.....92

Any other matches that have been played previous to this will be eliminated and the following schedule is the authentic one. When matches are played the scores are to be turned in to the Hatchet Office by Sunday evening in order to be published.

Delta Tau Delta—Sigma Chi.
Theta Upsilon Omega—Acacia.
Sigma Nu—Kappa Sigma.
Kappa Alpha—Theta Delta Chi.
Sigma Phi Epsilon—Bye.

the ball only to return the punt over the goal line a little later. After several plays G. W. fumbled and Tulsa took possession of the ball on the G. W. 25-yard line. The Tulsa squad, by virtue of a penalty and being thrown for losses gave up the ball to G. W. on the 35-yard line. The Colonials went through for a first down, then kicked. A Tulsa man blocked the kick and recovered it on the 41-yard marker.

G. W. again got the ball on downs, but a Tulsa lineman intercepted a pass to regain the ball for them. To make things equal Parrish intercepted a pass and ran to the Tulsa 15-yard stripe. A pass from Fenlon to Galloway was good for a touchdown for the home team. Jones added the extra point and the score stood 24-7 for Tulsa. Tulsa received the kick-off only to kick back to G. W. and after several plays the final whistle blew with the ball in mid-field.

Sport Axe

By GORDON V. POTTER

The Golden Hurricane has come and gone, leaving the Colonials rather dazed. 'Twas a great game from all points of view and although the rain interfered a bit during the last half, everybody enjoyed watching one of the most unorthodox football games that has been witnessed in Washington for many a year.

With ends on the far sides of the field and the rest of the team somewhere in the middle Tulsa U. line after time made gains through this unusual formation. The unbalanced line that hopped into position just before the ball was snapped was another salient and novel feature of the Hurricane's playing. The Tulsa's strategy might be placed in the Pop Warner school as Warner was the originator of the unbalanced line and the system of wing backs.

Both teams throughout the contest played an offensive game. Although George Washington did not obtain the yardage that their opponents did, it gained consistently at all times during the battle with the very important exception of the times when the team was within 10 or 15 yards of the line. At this point the Oilers' defense that heretofore had been negligent suddenly stiffened.

Although the defense of the Buff and Blue gridmen was not strong, Neilson, who plays at tackle, and Chambers, right end, both played marvelous games when the outfit was on the defensive. Both of these men broke through the hard charging line of the Oklahomaans to throw the back for a loss a number of times during the last quarter. Mulvey, the other Colonial end, also performed nicely, but was drawn away from the scrimmage a number of times on Tulsa's now famous spread eagle formation.

Volock and Casey, of Tulsa, stood out a wee bit more than their teammates on that fast hard-hitting line of the Oilers.

As usual, a number of the Colonial backs share the honors for brilliant performances. A weak ankle little hampered "Soapy" Fenlon from scampering around the ends and off tackles, while Joe Carter again pranced away for numerous yards. Art Kriemelmeyer endeavored to plunge through the Oilers' line so often that he was bruised badly but is expected to be in good shape within the week. Little Tony Matia accounted for a goodly number of yards.

Tulsa University has three mighty

Theta Delta Chis Win League Title From Sigma Chis

Take Three of Four Sets and Win Right to Play Sigma Nu for Championship This Week

Theta Delta Chi went into the finals of interfraternity tennis Sunday morning by taking the much touted Sigma Chi racquet artists into camp to the tune of 3-1. Sigma Nu had formerly won the League B title by defeating Kappa Sigma, 3-0.

The first set between Sterrett, Theta Delt, and Lockwood resulted in a victory for the N street ace, 6-1. In the next set Sterrett began to regain his power and serve and turned the tide in his favor, 6-4. Completely outclassing his opponent in the third set, Sterrett whitewashed Lockwood, 6-0, to prove he was the better of the two.

Orbison, Sigma Chi, took Curnard over the jumps in the second match. Starting the first set with precision and strength he easily won, 6-2. The second set was a repetition of the first as Orbison easily won this, also, 6-2.

Most Interesting Match

Bouye and Walker furnished the real action in the third match. Starting out in great style Walker, Sigma Chi, took the first set, 6-2. Bouye returned the power in the second to win, 6-4. In the third set Walker piled up a score of 5-2 when Bouye started a winning streak and took five successive games. This gave him the victory of the set 7-5.

Going into the doubles with two wins and one loss, Sterrett and Curnard, Theta Delta Chi, proceeded to point the way to Johnston and Walker. They took the first set in great style, 6-3, but found it tougher sleighing in the second and the match went to Sigma Chi, 7-5. The Theta Delt came back in the final and won the title by a 6-1 score.

Sigma Nu will play Theta Delta Chi during the coming week and the winner of the contest will win the championship and receive the council cup at the next prom.

Western Maryland Terrors Come From Behind to Win in Final Quarter

Western Maryland's Terrors proved too much for the George Washington yearlings Saturday at Griffith stadium when they came from behind in the third quarter and ran rough shod over the Colonials in the fourth quarter, scoring three touchdowns in rapid succession to win, 31-12.

Despite a 70-yard dash on the kick-off and a desperate fight for three periods in which George Washington had the better of the argument, the Maryland men cut loose in the final period and completely bewildered the G. W. Frosh.

With the beginning of the game the Freshmen seemed invincible. As if inspired by the shattering of the varsity spirit by Tulsa the previous night in Griffith Stadium, the Colonial yearlings marched down the field in the manner of the famous 1929 squad whose defeat they were out to revenge.

College-trained engineers revisit the athletic field

ON more than a hundred floodlighted fields, football is being played and practiced in the evening hours, before larger audiences than ever before—with fewer injuries and in better conformity with classroom duties.

This constructive revolution in athletics is largely the work of college-trained engineers— young men personally familiar with the needs of college and school. They are dedicating the technical experience gained in the General Electric Test Department to the practical service of undergraduate athletics—designing and installing floodlighting equipment for virtually every sport—football, baseball, hockey, tennis, and track.

Other college men in the General Electric organization have specialized in street lighting and floodlighting projects, or in the electrical equipment of industries and mines or of immense power stations; some are designing and applying electric apparatus to propel ocean liners and locomotives. All are engaged in the planning, production, or distribution of G-E products and so are performing a work of national betterment and creating for themselves recognized spheres of personal influence.

You will be interested in Bulletin GEA-1206, "The Light that Started Sports at Night." Write for it to the nearest G-E office or to Lighting Division, General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

C. Douglas Booth Is Guest Lecturer At Club Gathering

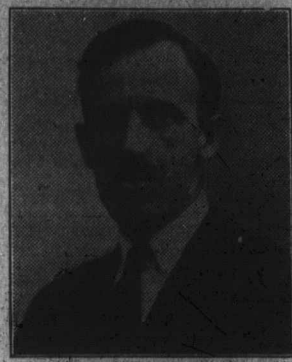

International Relations Group Will Hear Talk on Balkan Affairs

C. Douglas Booth, traveler, publicist, lecturer, and authority on Balkan affairs, will be the guest speaker at the first meeting of the George Washington International Relations Club tomorrow evening, October 21, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 29. Mr. Booth's subject will be "Balkan Consolidation—A Necessity to European Peace."

The International Relations Club is conducted by students under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. A cordial invitation to all students interested in international relations to attend the meeting is extended on behalf of the members by Prof. W. C. Johnston of the Political Science Department, faculty advisor of the club.

Mr. Booth is a lecturer and writer of international repute who has recently spent a number of years in the Near East and the Balkans collecting political and economic material for a new book. He is a member of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in England, to which he submits fortnightly reports on his findings, and before whom he often lectures upon international questions.

Has Varied Experience
"Italy's Aegean Possessions," published in 1928, is one of his papers which is well known in the United States, as are his articles written for the American Peace Society and published in "The Advocate of Peace."

Mr. Booth's lecturing experience is varied and includes considerable political work for the National Liberal Party of England, work in the United States for Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives while with the English forces during the war, and later experiences lecturing in both England and the United States on international relations. Two years ago he visited more than 50 of the International Relations Clubs in the colleges and universities of the South and Middle West under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment.

Mr. Booth has devoted seven years to the study of Mediterranean and Balkan problems, and has resided or traveled in Morocco, Rhodes, Patmos, Athens, and Belgrade. He has also spent some time in study at the Academy of International Law at The Hague.

did likewise on these forlorn gentlemen in their rather dirty white outfits. However, they survived and luckily some one announced through the loudspeakers that everyone should keep his seat until the game was finished, thus saving our valiant cheer ticklers from destruction.

Sickler Deserves Praise
Jerry Sickler deserves a lot of appreciation and praise for his excellent organization of the cheering section and also for his pep meeting, although it failed to take place because of the weather. Perhaps next time we'll see just how good he can make a pep rally. Incidentally, the clowning Jerry almost had to severely punish one spectator who insisted on setting a rendezvous for a battle to the death, but who was finally expelled from the stands by "John Law."

During the last minutes of the game the Colonial rooters, naturally feeling blue over the inevitable result, grew rather apathetic concerning their cheering. But when Parrish intercepted that stray floater and dashed for many yards before being pulled down, the George Washington students rose en masse as did the noise from their throats. One student even began to berate Sickler and his colleagues for not leading a few yells. One would have thought that George Washington won the game, when Galloway squirmed across the line for the sole touchdown, by the manner and the volume of the cheering.

There was sportsmanship in that crowd. Little booing and other obnoxious forms of noise were heard. When that little lightning flash of the Golden Hurricane, Billy Boehm, left the field after his 80-yard run, the Colonial rooters in appreciation of true football greatness gave him a "great big hand."

It was a good game, a thrilling game, a clean game, and a sad one for George Washington University. However, there will be more—four more.

Newman Club Plans Ball For Halloween

New Committee Members Are Named for This Year's Bal Masque

The coming of October's chill brings memories of former Hallowe'en Bal Masque held at the Congressional Country Club by the Newman Club. In keeping with the season, a committee has been named to plan this year's ball to be given at 2400 Sixteenth street N. W., October 30, 9:30 to 12:30 o'clock. A prominent orchestra has been engaged and extensive plans are being prepared to make it an event that will fittingly commemorate the season of Hallowe'en.

Members of the committee are: George Robertie, chairman; Dorothy Craig, Elizabeth Kuhn, Margaret Cox, Roy Upton, Lawrence Bailey, Thomas Bentley, Margaret McMahon, George Lynch, Walter Delaney, Thomas Flaven, Mary Mattingly, Marie Dobrin, Louise Dietrick, William Coleman, James Chartrand, and Paul Finegan. The opening party and dance of the Newman Club, given October 14 in Corcoran Hall 10, was attended by 200 members of the Newman Club and prospective members of the club. Rev. Dr. John K. Cartwright, chaplain of the club, gave the address of welcome. After a short business meeting an informal dance was held and refreshments were served.

Work on the current University yearbook is progressing rapidly and several new departures in editorial and business management give promise of a book which will surpass all previous ones both in appearance and general interest. The George Washington Bi-centennial furnishes the theme for this year's edition and opens the way for a wealth of material which will make the book a valuable addition to any library, aside from its being a resume of the year's activities at the University.

and 1930-31 when he was co-author and director.

Ada Green brings dramatic experience from many fields to aid in her impersonation of the queen. With the Community Players of Manila she played both small and lead parts and assisted with production and make-up. In 1930 she played minor parts with the National Theatre Players; and at G. W. she has been in the chorus and in a speaking part in two Troubadour shows.

Amanda Chittum, who will furnish half of the romantic interest in the part of the Princess Anne, was president of the Central High School Dramatic Association and took part in many plays at that institution from which she entered G. W. this fall. She also was with the Wardman Ram's Head Players some years ago.

Has Played Part Before
Opposite the princess will be seen Karl Gay, the secretary to the king. The part is not new to Gay for he played it among many others while interested in dramatic work in the high school and university in Honolulu before coming to this University.

Supporting roles in "The Queen's Husband" will be handled by Joseph Danzansky, Michael H. Greenberg, Edward Northrop, Leonard Stevens, Hartwell Parker, Arthur Stevington, Sol Orleans and Archie Oram. The two ladies in waiting have not yet been chosen.

True to Form
Dr. Walter James, geologist, is of the opinion that women today are no different than they were 10,000 years ago. Of 600 ancient skeletons recently dug up in Alabama all the women had their mouths open; those of the men were shut.

members, but this is due to the fact that R. E. Franklin, the man who built the first serviceable utility glider for commercial purposes, is the dean of engineering there. Professor Johnson, the faculty advisor of the G. At Ann Arbor, it seems that the engineering school lives solely for the purpose of flying.

Teas—teas—teas! Everyone is having them, and everyone is going to them. With sorority rushing in full swing this week there is little or no time for other social activities.

A complete surprise to most of us is the marriage of Hermione John to Mann Cox. They were married last Saturday, after a short romance which began on the liner when they were returning from Europe this Summer.

Saturday night Sigma Chi had another informal radio party at the house. Those who enjoyed the orchestra via the loud speaker were Mary Wade Moses, Friselle Evans, Jane Allen, Mary Coward, Majorie Bacon, Alfred Halverson, Demmy Blackiston, Matt Sawtelle, Jack Royce, and John Dooley.

Zeta Tau Alpha announces the informal pledging of Louise Munroe, October 15.

Annie Lou Hubbard, Kappa Delta, and Henry Link, Acacia, were married October 8.

Phi Delta Has New Rooms

Phi Delta sorority which was previously housed in two small back rooms in Building M, now has an attractive three room apartment at 2129 G Street. Two of the rooms are tastefully furnished as living rooms and the small back room is a cozy den for studying. The rooms have a southern exposure which makes them very pleasant these sharp afternoons.

Friday night after the game the Phi Sigs took their dates to the house for an informal radio party where any blues, caused by the rain or the defeat, were soon danced into oblivion.

Another engagement! This time Eugenie Lemerle, Alpha Delta Pi, to George Riggs, Kappa Sigma.

Betty Coon entertained at a bridge miscellaneous shower Saturday, for Dorothy Faith Fowler, who is engaged to Lt. Edward Kewly Purnell, U. S. N. Guests who attended the party are Virginia Mahurin, Marian Boyd, Margaret Gilligan, Annabelle McCullough, and Virginia Hawkins.

As Law Fraters Convene

Gamma Eta Gamma legal fraternity held its bi-annual convention at the Willard Hotel September 24-26, the G. W. chapter being one of the hosts. A feature of the convention was a model initiation by the local chapter of Tom Eager, Phillip Churchill, and A. Parker, of the G. W. Law School.

Some of the speakers at the fraternity banquet were Dr. John Fox, dean of the Catholic University law school, Harold Dudley Greely, one of the founders, and the retiring and newly elected high chancellors. William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives, acted as toastmaster.

Jack Hoffman, a member of the George Washington University chapter of Gamma Eta Gamma, was elected national high recorder of the fraternity.

knock me over with it! Mobs of women are flunking gym. They simply can't resist running across the back yard in their gym suits. And when Vinnie or Atwell takes a look out the back window, and lamps those legs—oh, girls, that's just a flunk for you.

Little Dick has turned referee. I'll umpire a scrap, or even fight somebody myself for five dollars. At present I can't take any contracts on account of refereeing a setton between The Hatchet and our Student Council, and folks, it's a wow! On one side we have Charley Jackson's column and a half, and The Hatchet reserves the editorial column for its corner, and then decides it doesn't need it. The odds are even at the present press issue, but I promise action galore in the near future. I should be giving you eight pages this time so that a full account of the game could delight your searching gaze. The Hatchet won out back in 1918 A. D. when the Student Council passed out on a foul during the war, but this fight promises to be fair and above board. They might even shake hands and get together—who knows.

People, we certainly hope you'll enjoy this edition of the school rag, as we've been encumbered tonight by the usual feminine chatter in these busy halls of literary wisdom. Well, darling, we wish you luck on your line of honey.

And the name of Hanback led all the rest. Bill crashes through on a real important job. The senior manager of sports is a nest for a lot of work, and you can have a round of praise if you make a good job of it, Willie.

"The finest, most spectacular musical comedy that G. W. has ever put on." Oh, Dan, how could you? Such words give us high hopes of seeing a well drilled chorus, and maybe a cracked tenor. Give me a ticket in the front row—maybe I'll see my dreams come true, and have a "Happy Landing."

Some dim wit—not Rollo—pulled a fast one on our sign painter. With a little more paint he put a significant little "BY" between the patriotic "BEAT TULSA."

Did the folks take note of the big accident at Twentieth and F Streets the other day. One of the bystanders remarked to his neighbor, "These college students never use their brains to advantage."

"Yes, the accident was gruesome, wasn't it?"

Co-eds, take your man to see "The Queen's Husband." I don't know whether it's a comedy or a tragedy, but I strongly suspect the former is the case with Westbrook and Gay in the star roles. The extra masculine parts will be filled by the Kappas in the club.

Our five star glee club turns out another gem with Bob Cushman in the Atwater Kent Foundation contest.

Rollo admires real merit—give him a hand, boys.

The Student Council is making an earnest attempt to get a quorum. The idea is to elect whomever you please, but make it somebody. The Division of Library Science is still laboring under the impression that it hasn't a candidate worthy of the name. Cheer up, sisters, we're not proud.

Two of the worthy T. U. O. brothers bagged a moose up in the Hudson Bay region, so they all had a dinner. Unfortunately, wild moose milk furnishes such illusions, and there is no dinner afterward. How about it?

The Cherry Tree is catching up with us already. Pauline isn't sleeping on her tin ear. An early start means a better book. How about a good mug, my dear girl—to substitute for the one I seemed to have lost in the rush last year? Or was that my face—I'm not quite sure?

Senator King will tell the Commerce and Economics fraternity all about the silver question as related to world economic conditions. Rollo will now tell you all about the sad state of silver in his pocket. And I can be just a wee bit more eloquent than the august senator on that particular subject, too. "How about a buck till Monday, brother."

Our own Dean Doyle will try to pick the right one in the International Oratorical finals. Maybe he'll need more than Spanish to distinguish the miscellaneous chatter those boys are going to sling around that night. We certainly do feel proud that one of our own profrates a racket like that, tho. Call your shots, Henry.

Come around to the Griffith Stadium Friday night, and watch the bears and the cubs scratch each other.

G. Douglas Taylor Re-elected President as Smoker Plans Are Made

Senator William H. King of Utah will address the members and guests of the Commerce and Economics Fraternity at the opening smoker of the semester, Monday, October 26, at 8 p. m., at the Hay Adams House. The affair will be invitational, and all students majoring in economics or other business subjects, and interested in the fraternity, are urged to consult with members on the campus before that time.

Senator King, one time Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah and United States Senator since 1916, will speak on the silver question, now a subject of special economic significance. Since the recent action of the British Government in shifting from the gold standard to the silver standard, the question has again become important in American affairs. Following the address refreshments will be served and there will be a social mixer for members to meet prospective candidates for the fraternity, according to Beryl Hix, chairman of the entertainment committee.

G. Douglas Taylor was unanimously re-elected president of the fraternity at the business meeting held October 12. George J. Jarvis was elected vice president; Carroll Hughes, secretary; and David M. Kennedy, treasurer.

A. W. Heinmiller was appointed chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee. Richard C. Marks will head the publicity committee with Carroll Hughes, Ralph R. Gilby, and Lester Gates as the other members. The program for meetings and entertainment features were placed under the direction of Richard W. Maycock with Wilburn West assisting. Beryl Hix was made chairman of the committee for new members and initiation including Lawrence Parker, Leslie A. Conley and Will J. Hopkins. The finance committee includes Richard M. Hill, chairman, and D. M. Kennedy.

Ralph D. Kennedy, new member of the University Economics Department faculty, also member of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce fraternity, was officially greeted by the group, and spoke briefly in response, to the thirty members gathered at the Corcoran Hall meeting.

Freshmen Gridders Lose Despite Hot First Period

terly with the Maryland boys and led at the half, 12 to 6. Strayer grabbed the opening kick and a great dash down the field made the 200 odd spectators believe that G. W. couldn't be stopped. It was not long, however, before one of Trilling's passes went amiss and Kaplan, a Western Maryland half back, was hopelessly clear on the way to tie the score.

Colonial supporters merely considered this a bad break and it never once entered their minds that the frosh would lose after their cyclonic start. The G. W. men strengthened this viewpoint when they drove down the field in the second period from midfield to the five yard line, from which point Vanderberger scored the second touchdown.

Even in the third period things went well for George Washington until suddenly a 39-yard pass, Shepherd to Blissman, came out of a clear sky to tie the score and before anyone quite understood the quick change of events, Western Maryland had kicked the goal and was in the lead.

Visitors Score Three Times

What happened in the last quarter is still a matter of speculation. The George Washington frosh didn't seem to know what it was all about, nor did the crowd. The Maryland outfit, suddenly finding itself in the lead, cut loose with everything it had. Ferguson carried the ball around end, Swelken smashed at center, Gorsky and a substitute half, Romito, slashed at tackle and all took a turn at passing, Gorsky carried the ball over the double line twice and Blissman, Maryland end, scored the fifth touchdown.

The George Washington team looked unusually strong for the first half and seemed only to wear out in the last period. Coach Jean Sexton used but few substitutes.

The line-up:

Keeney L.E. Blissman
Raskowski L.T. Commercial

Touchdowns—Strayer, Vanderburg, Kaplan

fine backfield men in Billy Boehm, Chuck Keeling, and Ish Pilkington. Pilkington, who has been spoken of as All-American material, was overshadowed by the spectacular feats of his diminutive teammates. Clever football strategists are these Tulsans numbering Boehm and Keeling, one and two. And number three was also little and fast. This Boehm is fast and has those proverbial "snake" hips, while Keeling is a close second to him in ability to make wide sweeping end runs. Pilkington was not so spectacular but his hammer-like driving at the line, kicking, and marvelous interference, was of high calibre.

The student body responded magnificently to the various appeals of The Hatchet and the cheer leaders for louder and more vociferous yelling. G. W. U. lost the game but the Colonial rooters were behind them to the blowing of the final whistle. Keep the good work going!

Washington and its environs is becoming the logical area for the holding of good football contests. It seemed that this fact was true for the past week end as the writer of course attended the Tulsa-G. W. U. game and was also present at the staging of that grand battle between the University of Kentucky and University of Maryland, which resulted in a 6-6 tie score.

Co-ed Golf Opens Intramural Sports

Play Limited to Women Who Have Completed Thirty Semester Hours

Intramural activities got under way yesterday when the first games of the co-ed doubles miniature golf tournament were run off. A schedule for the week is posted on the bulletin board in Building R.

Under the rules decided upon by the Intramural Board, no one is eligible to play who has not completed thirty semester hours work in the University. These tournaments are designed to enable more girls to participate in athletic games which do not require long practice or great skill.

The program for this year includes: November, volley ball, team of five; December, indoor archery, doubles; February, badminton, doubles; March, basketball, four practices and medical examination required; April, bowling, team of four; May, tennis singles.

To date only one independent organization, the Co-ed Campus Club, has signed up for the competitions. The Intramural Board, however, has been working to promote other groups in the various schools of the University, and anyone interested in joining is asked to get in touch with Manager Carol Simpson.

Intramural Board meetings will be held this year in Building R on Monday at 12:10 o'clock. All members are requested to report promptly. There will be fines for tardiness and unexcused absence. In case of absences, a written excuse should be presented and a substitute delegate be sent to the meeting.
